although the supplement is generally safe and well-tolerated by healthy adults, pregnant women and nursing mothers should take L-lysine only if their diets are low in the amino acid.